32nd Annual High Schools That Work Staff Development Conference

Addressing What Parents Want: Preparing Students for College and Careers

Bring your teaching team and learn how high-performing schools:

- Teach all students using engaging assignments connected to grade-level standards.
- Implement strategies for connecting learning experiences for students through common planning time for teachers.
- Provide educators the professional development needed to have 90 percent of students enter ninth grade ready for high school, and 95 percent of students graduate on time.
- Extend learning time for personalized supports to help each student achieve grade-level standards.
- Deliver academic, career counseling and exploratory experiences that enable students to set and achieve bold goals to graduate college ready, career ready or both.
- Implement school- and community-based learning experiences that motivate students to make the effort to succeed at higher levels.
- Combine a college-ready core with career pathway courses that prepare students for both college and careers.
- Take ownership of gaps in student learning and find a comprehensive set of proven strategies to raise achievement.

Sixth Annual College- and Career-Readiness Standards Networking Conference

Utilizing Powerful Practices to Engage All Learners

Join educators from across the nation as they share ways to:

- Increase access and equity for all learners through intentional planning.
- Design and use meaningful assignments that engage all learners in grade-level college- and career-readiness standards.
- Facilitate a classroom environment in which students engage in productive discussions and take ownership of their learning.
- Provide feedback to move students' thinking forward.
- Utilize effective assessment strategies that ensure student growth through effective re-engagement and revision opportunities.
- Create and sustain long-term structures for shared leadership throughout schools and districts.

Sixth Annual College- and Career-Readiness Standards Networking Conference

The College- and Career-Readiness Standards Networking Conference connects teams of teacher, school and district leaders to improve student learning through literacy and mathematics instruction, advancing student achievement in all content areas.

Educators from across the nation will network and share their success stories about how their classrooms, schools and districts have been transformed through powerful literacy and mathematics practices with a foundation in the Literacy Design Collaborative (LDC) and the Mathematics Design Collaborative (MDC).

SREB's powerful literacy practices help teachers of all academic disciplines and career and technical education teachers plan instruction that engages students in reading complex grade-level texts and in presenting their understanding of content orally and through authentic, standards-based writing assignments. Students apply multiple literacy strategies to create written products authentic to the course discipline.

SREB's powerful mathematics practices provide teachers a framework centered around formative assessment that can transform their daily instruction and move students' thinking forward. Teachers learn to select and develop assignments designed to engage students in productive struggle, which builds their procedural fluency and deepens their mathematical reasoning and understanding. Teachers shift from a traditional classroom environment in which the learning focuses on the teacher as the expert to a classroom where students are the experts, taking ownership of their learning.

32nd Annual High Schools That Work Staff Development Conference

The HSTW Staff Development Conference introduces educators to the new HSTW framework of proven strategies and tools that unite leaders and teachers across disciplines in providing students rich learning experiences that lead to advanced credentials, postsecondary studies and jobs.

Teamwork is essential to build and sustain positive, comprehensive school improvement. Everyone, from principals and counselors to academic and career and technical education teachers, should be involved in improving student achievement.

The conference provides a platform for schools to take full advantage of the best practices and innovative professional development strategies to prepare students with the academic and career and technical education skills and knowledge needed to succeed in college and the 21st-century workplace.

Hear from nationally renowned speakers and educators from the elementary grades through postsecondary studies about ways to gain practical classroom and school strategies that can be implemented immediately in your school. The conference is also a great opportunity to network with other educators to strengthen and expand professional learning opportunities and school improvement efforts.

Hotel Information

Gaylord Palms Resort & Convention Center
6000 West Osceola Parkway
Kissimmee, FL 34746
Rate: $155/night plus room tax and fees.

Reserving a Room

Connections Housing will act as a third-party booking agent for all contracted conference hotels. To reserve a room, please call (404) 842-0000 or (800) 262-9974, or book online at <http://bit.ly/2iLvWru>. Ask for the 2018 SREB Conference rate when booking your reservation.

As is standard practice, hotels will require a one-night deposit for each room reservation. Refunds will be given only if cancellations are made at least seven (7) days prior to the scheduled date of arrival. Reservations must be made by June 15, 2018, to receive the SREB room rate.

It is advisable to reserve your rooms early, as the SREB block tends to sell out quickly. By Friday, May 25, 2018, each room must list each occupant's name and a valid method of payment for the one-night deposit. Credit cards and checks are considered valid methods of payment; school purchase orders will not be accepted.

Questions
