College Affordability Profile

College affordability continues to be a concern for students and their families in Delaware, particularly those in lower income groups. This, along with declining birth rates and other factors, makes maintaining enrollment challenging for postsecondary institutions. Decreasing or stagnant enrollment will, in turn, make reaching state education attainment goals and improving students' employment outcomes more difficult. This 2019 college affordability profile provides updated data on how affordable different types of public institutions are for Delaware families at various income levels.

Percentage of Average Family Income Required to Attend College Full Time

In 2016-17, the percentage of family income required to pay for college in Delaware was lower than the SREB average for each institutional type except two-year institutions.

Families in Delaware paid a higher percentage of their family income in 2016-17 for a full-time student to attend four-year Type 1 and two-year institutions than in 2011-12.

Delaware families needed, on average, 31% of their income in 2016-17 to pay for educational expenses for a full-time student at four-year Type 1 institutions and 29% at four-year Type 2 institutions.

In 2016-17 Delaware needed to pay, on average, 20% of their income to cover educational expenses at two-year institutions.

Net Price as a Percentage of Income, Public Two-Year Institutions

The percentage of income that Delaware families needed to pay for educational expenses at two-year institutions increased from 2011 to 2016.

U.S. Department of Education, Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System, Student Financial Aid Files and Directory Files 2011 and 2016, 12-Month Enrollment Instructional Activity Files 2012 and 2017. American Community Survey Public Use Microdata Samples, 2011 and 2016. Institutional types based on SREB-State Data Exchange categories.

The increase in the percentage of income needed to pay for two-year institutions in Delaware was much larger for families making less than $30,000 than for any other income category.

At Delaware’s two-year institutions, families making less than $30,000 in 2011 needed 22% of their income to pay for educational expenses. In 2016 it was 46%.

Families making over $110,000 only needed 5% of their income in 2011 and 6% in 2016 to cover expenses at these institutions.

State Financial Aid Per Student

Delaware awarded more need-based aid in 2016-17 per full-time-equivalent (FTE) student than the SREB and national averages. Need-based aid also increased from 2011-12 to 2016-17.

	Need Only	Need and Merit	Merit Only	Special Purpose
Delaware (2011-12)	$392	$0	$174	$10
Delaware (2016-17)	$401	$17	$259	$2
SREB Average (2016-17)	$351	$137	$397	$69
U.S. Average (2016-17)	$382	$225	$163	$44

The state spent $401 on average per undergraduate FTE student on need-based aid in 2016-17, compared $392 to in 2011-12. The SREB average in 2016-17 was $351 and the national average was $382.

Delaware spent $259, on average, per FTE for merit-based financial aid in 2016-17, much less than the SREB average of $397 but more than the national average of $163.

Notes

Type 1 four-year institutions award at least 30 doctoral degrees in five different areas. Type 2 includes all other four-year institutions. The public two-year category includes institutions that primarily award associate degrees; the list may include two-year institutions that award bachelor's degrees. The technical college category includes postsecondary institutions that offer programs of less than two years duration below the baccalaureate level and occupational and vocational schools with programs that do not exceed 1800 contact hours. This profile does not report data for the technical college category if less than 3% of students are enrolled in this sector.

Institutions are listed as they were categorized in the 2016-17 Data Exchange Survey and if they submitted the data required for this profile.

This profile is based on data reported to IPEDS by institutions during the 2016-17 academic year. Some IPEDS surveys collect data for the prior academic year; for instance, the 2016-17 Student Financial Aid survey collected data for 2015-16.

Institutions or states may have updated data previously reported, or adjusted methodology to calculate a statistic. As a result, some data in the current profile may differ from data reported in past Affordability Profiles for the same time period.
