SREB-State Data Exchange Definitions of Institutional Categories and Listing of Public Universities, Four-Year and Two-Year Colleges, and Technical Institutes or Colleges

Throughout its 45-year history, the SREB-State Data Exchange has recognized the importance of reporting statistical comparisons by institutional category — unlike most other statistical reports, even today. States have very different mixes of types of institutions, and statewide aggregate comparisons always should be interpreted cautiously.

Designed to be used for interstate statistical comparisons, the SREB method for grouping postsecondary education institutions is based on several factors generally used to determine their resource requirements. Institutions are classified based on size (number of degrees or full-time-equivalent enrollment), role (types of degrees), breadth of program offerings (number of program areas in which degrees are granted), and comprehensiveness (distribution of degrees across program areas). The SREB classifications do not take into account other factors relevant to determining resource requirements, such as cost differences among programs or externally funded research.

The SREB-State Data Exchange recognizes that methods of grouping institutions may serve different purposes. For example, in funding formulas for colleges and universities, states take additional characteristics into account in forming comparison groups. The SREB-State Data Exchange assists states in analyzing alternate groups by making the by-college data from the Data Exchange survey available through an online data library. SREB publications show results using the categories listed in this section.

Institutions in SREB states are assigned to categories using data on program completions from the previous academic year — or, for two-year colleges and technical institutes or colleges, using data on estimated full-time-equivalent enrollment for the current academic year. The classifications reported here are from the 2013-14 SREB-State Data Exchange, based upon 2012-13 program completion data and 2013-14 estimated full-time-equivalent enrollments. To keep the statistical comparison groups relatively stable over time, institutions change categories when they meet the criteria for another category for the third consecutive year.

Four-Year 1:

Institutions awarding at least 100 research and scholarship doctoral degrees that are distributed among at least 10 CIP categories (two-digit classification), with no more than 50 percent in any one category.
