About the Training

This training will provide an overview and introduction to each of the SREB literacy readiness courses, Literacy Ready and Ready for High School Literacy. The participants will be engaged in experiential learning regarding best practices for literacy classes and the disciplinary literacy approach.

Literacy Ready

This course is designed for high school seniors who aren't prepared for college level coursework. The course emphasizes disciplinary literacy, with units in ELA, History, and Science. Students are engaged in classroom activities to develop critical-thinking and communication skills. For more information, www.sreb.org/literacy-ready.

Ready for High School Literacy

This course can be used in 8th or 9th grade to prepare students for high school coursework. The course emphasizes disciplinary literacy, with units in ELA, History, and Science. Students are engaged in classroom activities to develop critical-thinking and communication skills. For more information, visit www.sreb.org/ready-high-school-literacy.
