

The Oklahoma State Department of Education & the Southern Regional Education Board Present Free

Ready for High School Math Training

Tulsa (June 4-6)

Summer Training

The Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) will provide Ready for High School Math training from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m on June 4-6 in Tulsa. This training is for teachers from schools who will be implementing Ready for High School Math in the 2018-19 school year. Curriculum specialists and school administrators are welcome to attend, space permitting. Lunch will be provided. Please use the registration link below to register for the training.

Location

Wilson Teaching and Learning Academy 2710 E 11th Street, Tulsa, OK

Registration

Please visit <http://bit.ly/OK-RHSM-18> to register for the training.

Ready for High School Math

Ready for High School Math is a free course designed for 8th and 9th graders who are in need of extra support to get them ready for Algebra 1. The free, full-year course emphasizes understanding of mathematics concepts rather than memorizing procedures. By engaging students in real-world applications, Ready for High School Math develops critical-thinking skills that students will use in high school. Join this pilot year to engage in this exciting course work that is sure to get you and your students excited about mathematics. For more information about Ready for High School Math, visit <http://sreb.org/ready-high-school-math>.

Questions

If you have any questions, send an email to Ready@SREB.org.

